Safety & Security Management

Construction is one of the most hazardous profession in the word. Many injuries and fatalities are avoidable if a safe working environment along with trained and accountable staff are in place. The hallmark of any effective safety system is ensuring everyone is properly educated, trained and equipped with required safety gear. Managing and tracking the site and people's safety is what the DominateSAFETY module does best.

Safety Training Administration

Since education is the key, the Safety module administers training and certification requirements to meet job site safety, as defined by OSHA and other safety regulations. It keeps track of member's safety training sessions including trade skill classes. The training module also help in maintaining a proactive approach to safety, by conducting regular health and safety training and education sessions.

Safety Violation Tracking

Mobile devices are used to register facility or people safety violations as they happen and record images as evidence. At the time of registering the violation, the system shows the history of all other violations for the individual or the location. When a safety or security violation occurs, the system alerts the responsible parties about the violation type, the involved person(s), the location and all other pertinent data. The system also keeps track of active and rectified safety violations to improve job site safety standards.
